

Don't Fret Pet

A Home Away From Home

PART TIME PETS

There is a unique service in Sydney that gives pet lovers the opportunity to mind pets on a part-time basis! "Don't Fret Pet!" aims to provide a caring and homely environment for pets whose owners are away while, at the same time, filling a gap in the lives of pet lovers who perhaps do not want to be tied down by a pet all year round.

Many pet owners dread going away and leaving their pets and many pets do not cope at all well with being confined to a kennel or cattery with a sudden and inexplicable (in their minds) reduction in the number of cuddles and pats.

Says manager, Jenny Pratt: "Many of my customers breathe a sigh of relief when they tell me that now they'll be able to go away on weekends and holidays because they feel that their pet will receive plenty of attention in their absence".

The service has an extensive database of people willing to become a surrogate family for pets. "Don't Fret Pet!" ensures that each pet minder is suitable for the position by checking the minder's home and the owner also is welcome to meet the pet minder in advance.

For the pet owner, there could be nothing better. His/her pet is ensured individual attention, maintenance of its regular diet, lot of "walkies" and even a playmate if requested! Pet owners are able to go away with the knowledge that their pet is in safe, caring hands.

And for those who love to have a pet around, but do not want to take on the responsibility that is involved in owning an animal full-time, they have the opportunity to care for one on a part-time basis.

For further information on having your pet minded by "Don't Fret Pet!" or on becoming a pet minder contact Jenny Pratt on 953 6112.