

FURTHER to last Sunday's story on holidays and how to cater for cats and dogs when going away, Sydneysider Jenny Pratt has advised of a "Don't Fret Pet!" travel agency where pets are cared for by switching homes.

The service, she says, allows pet owners to go on holidays without feeling guilty.

Don't Fret Pet! is a pet-minding service which gives pet lovers the opportunity to mind pets in their home on a part-time basis.

The pet lovers contracted by Don't Fret Pet! are said to provide a caring, secure and homely environment for the animal.

As a pet owner, you leave the animal with a caring family until your return.

All food and accessories are provided by the owner and a small daily remuneration is paid to minders.
